TWO PRISONERS MISSING

Guard, Felon Wounded In Riot At Prison

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

We're passing this on to you for what it's worth, if anything.

* * * *

It seems the other night that a friend of our's was in a hurry to see three certain men in this city on a business deal.

* * * *

From their homes to their lodges he chased, hither and yon, in search of the three.

* * * *

But to no avail. No one knew where they were. Time was growing short . . . he wanted to see them before eleven o'clock.

* * * *

Then came the brilliant idea. He hied himself to one pee wee golf course after another.

* * * *

Finally after he had almost exhausted every course in Richmond he remembered the new indoor course at Tenth street.

* * * *

Sure enough, there he found the three men playing a three-some.

* * * *

Which all goes to show that now days one doesn't have to be very smart to be a detective.

* * * *

How one's stuff piles up in a few months after marriage. You start with nothing and at the end of the second month one has acquired enough junk to start a second hand store.

* * * *

What will it be after one has been married 20 years?

* * * *

It looks as if Sir Thomas hasn't got a chance to win the cup this year.

* * * *

And thousands of Americans feel as badly about it as he does.

* * * *

We can now change our phrase from "all the world loves a lover" to "all the world loves a good loser."

* * * *

This business of selling gasoline at 21 cents a gallon is a lot of hooey, bother and what have you.

* * * *

In the "good old days" (a coupla weeks ago), one could drive into a service station, and yell, "put in five!" hand out a dollar and drive away.

* * * *

Now you drive into a sta- and ask for three or four gallons of gas, and get a handful of chicken feed and pennies in return.

* * * *

One thing you can turn the spare pennies over to the baby to be swallowed or saved, one of the two.

* * * *

One radio announcer whose voice is easily recognized, is Jack Keough, of the National Broadcasting company.

* * * *

The easterners may rave about Graham MacNamee, (let 'em rave) but in our estimattion Keough is the best sports announcer in the game.

* * * *

Last Sunday he announced the Army-Olympic club game and it was first rate.

* * * *

Soon Ernie Smith is going to be on the air again.

* * * *

One of these days we're going to have Ernie and Floyd Gibbons get together and see who can talk the fastest.

* * * *

Which all reminds us that stenographers are practicing taking shorthand by listening to Gibbons talk over the radio.

9 PRISONERS BESIEGED 2 HOURS

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 16.—UP — Nine desperate prisoners in Maryland state penitentiary here surrendered to prison guards tonight after a two-hour siege of their improvised fortress in the prison foundry.

The nine took refuge behind the foundry's thick walls shortly after 4 p. m. when a short gun-battle with guards broke up the efforts of these and several other convicts to scale the walls to freedom.

A guard, Arthur Owen, 39, and a prisoner, George Bailey were seriously wounded in the battle. Owen attempted to stop the rush and was shot with his own gun after a convict wrested it from him. Other guards on the high wall opened fire as the convicts dashed for one spot on the wall and Bailey fell.

Two Give Up

The men surrendered after two hours of waiting, nothing being done to dislodge them although police were contemplating use of tear gas.

More than 500 policemen, called out by prison authorities when the first outbreak occurred at dinner time in the prison dining room s[illegible] the prison walls, holding back an immense crowd.

Thousands were attracted when the outbreak brought a 10minute gun battle between prisoners and guards.

Baer Not Named By Coroner Jury

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—UP —A coroner's jury decided here late today that the boxing contest in which Frankie Campbell, local heavyweight, was beaten so badly that he died within 24 hours "was conducted in compliance with the rules and regulations of the California Boxing Commission."

Campbell was knocked out in the fifth round of a scheduled 10 round bout with Baer, a Livermore boxer in which Campbell had staked his reputation as Pacific Coast heavyweight champion.

SCHOOL CENSUS WILL BE MADE NEXT MONTH

A tentative announcement that four new rooms will be added to the Woodrow Wilson school was made at a meeting of the Richmond school board yesterday.

W. T. Helms, superintendent of Richmond schools said that as yet the plans are only tentative, but additions to the school are sorely needed due to the congestion at the institution.

The plan was recommended by Helms, who pointed out that the original plans for the school provided for the four extra rooms, and with the growth of that section of the city, extra housing for the pupils is needed.

The board has been adding to the Woodrow Wilson grounds the past year and now owns practically the whole block in which the school is located.

Tentative plans for the improvement of the Nystrom school grounds were also discussed, the concensus of opinion being that the grounds were dirty and dusty and should be cleaned up.

According to Helms the grounds have not been serviced since the opening of the school and the matter will be taken up with City Engineer E. A. Hoffman.

Mrs. Laura Stanley was appointed yesterday to take charge of the school census which will take place the first full week in October.

The census of schools is taken every three years, and Helms said yesterday that a substantial increase in registration is anticipated.

Bandit's Kin Loses Suit

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—Miss Jessie Estelle James, comely granddaughter of Jesse James, today lost her effort to win a $55,000 damage suit against motion picture interests.

On the motion of attorney for Famous Players Lasky and the estate of the late Fred Thompson, western film star, Superior Judge K. S. Mahon dismissed the action. He ruled that Miss James had failed to establish evidence of the existence of any written or oral contract whereby she was to play in a picture based on her grandfather's life.

Miss James contended that she was induced to leave a good job in Kansas City to come to Hollywood and appear in the role of her great-grandmother, Mrs. Zeralda Samuels. She maintained that after her arrival the part was given to a motion picture actress.

Jesse James, Jr., father of the girl, has a suit pending against the same defendants. He asked damages of $9,436 for publicity work and technical advice on the production.

Police Hunt Wife Of Star

HOLLYWOOD. Sept. 16.—UP—When an intensive private search for eight days failed to locate Mrs. Marguerite Beery, wife of Noah Beery, screen character actor, police were asked to assist today.

Beery told authorities he was unable to account for his wife's action.

"She simply dropped from sight" the actor said. "I am beginning to fear for her safety as I can find no one who has seen her."

Beery said he believed his wife left their San Fernando estate in an automobile. He could not say how she was dressed or if she had taken any of her belongings.

CHECK UP IS BEING MADE

FOLSOM PRISON, Sept. 16.—UP —Two prisoners were missing from cells here tonight when the regular evening check of convicts was made.

Those who were not counted were William Clark, convicted for burglary in Santa Cruz in 1923, serving ten years, and William Burke, convicted in Los Angeles on a charge of burglary in 1929.

Clark attempted to escape from here in 1924 and Burke made a successful break last year. Burke was captured in Philadelphia several months later and sentenced to serve from one year to life for escape.

Warden Court Smith believed the two men had not been able to get outside the walls today and were hiding inside the prison. He ordered all searchlights about the prison turned on and called all available guards to make a careful search.

Burke has been watched closely since he made his escape last year. At that time he obtained cardboard and some dough, fixing up a dummy to put in the bed of his cell to keep guards from becoming suspicious. Then he slipped into the prison morgue and hid in a coffin until dark. Then he crossed the prison ferry, swam the American river and gained temporary freedom.

A new building is being constructed here and Warden Smith offered the theory that if Burk and Clark were not hiding in the quarry they might be under some material that has been brought here for the construction work.

The A's now lead the Washington Senators by eight full games and need but three wins in their remaining nine games to clinch the flag.

Lefty Grove scored his 27th victory of the season in the first game. Braxton held the leaders to one hit for the first five innings of the second game but collapsed in the sixth when the A's scored five runs.

Waite Hoyt pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 7 to 5 win over the Boston Red Sox. Both clubs made ten hits.

In the National league the St. Louis Cards regained the league lead by taking a bittery fought 10-inning game from the Brooklyn Robins 1 to 0. The New York Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs 7 to . It was announced that the local Bills baseball team will play its first night baseball game on Oct. 3.

A large crowd of Richmond rooters and fans will attend the contest.

The annual golf contest between Richmond and Berkeley lodges is to be held in the near future.

M. E. Hazelton is chairman of this year's golf committee.

Curfew Taken For Fire Alarm

INGERSOLL, Ont.—All the children who were supposed to run home when the town fire bell rang out the curfew came scurrying to the fire engine house a few nights ago to find out where was the fire. The town council had neglected to announce the date when a new curfew law was to take effect.

Volunteer firemen who knew nothing about the unannounced curfew shared the children's disappointment when they learned the bell signaled nothing more exciting than a warning to all children less than 14 years old to go home.

YACHT RACES DELAYED BY FOG

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 16.—UP—Great billows of fog came rolling into Newport harbor today and smothered hopes of running the third race of the series between the Enterprise and the Shamrock V, for the America's cup.

After waiting until 11:30 a. m. at the starting the time, the race committee signalled a postponement, to the immense relief of all those who were on boats in the harbor, fearing they might have to pick their way through the fog banks to the ocean course where the races are held.

So thick was the fog at times that from the bridge of destroyers and patrol boats officers could not see a quarter of a mile ahead. When two large yachts scraped each other in a near collision right under the nose of J. P. Morgan's corsair from a distance of 200 yards, their names could not be read even with powerful glasses.

The coast guard partol and the naval destroyer in the harbor were ordered to remain inside until the race committee reached a decision as to the running of the race. The decision, postponing the race until tomorrow morning came about 11:30 a. m.

Given a free afternoon the arm chair sailors who loll upon the decks of the more than 100 private yachts in the harbor kept busy with speculation. Much of this centered upon the possibility of arranging a race with some such master as George Nichols of J. P. Morgan's Wheetamoe or Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams at the helm of the Shamrock. This they said, would answer the question of whether it is Enterprise or Harold Vanderbilt that is too much for the Shamrock to defeat.

Admiral W. S. Sims, who was a guest on one of the yachts, was responsible for a suggestion that the course be changed to one at least partly within Newport harbor which would be more difficult and give a more severe test of yachting skill.

The race tomorrow will be 15 miles to windward from a point nine miles southeast of Brenton's reef, and return.

Hollywood In Victory Over San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—UP—Hollywood came from behind here today to take the series' opener from the San Francisco Seals by a score of 7 to 5, the Sheiks increasing their lead over the second place Los Angeles Angels to seven full games. Heath had tied the score with a home run in the eighth. HUSKY ELEVEN HAS POOR CHANCE

SEATTLE, Sept. 16.—UP—University of Washington Huskies, unlan, will not present a winning football combination this wall, according to critics who have studied the material and its adaptability to Jimmy Phelan's type of play.

Opinion of the average fan, however, is more optimistic. He thinks the Huskies will run close to the championship this year, because Phelan's Purdue eleven captured the Big Ten title last season.

But Phelan came to Washington at a time when the football squad was seriously hit by graduation. He will start the season with weak spots that, to fit in which his fast, open style of play, should be strong. Unless some of the players develop rapidly, his weakest points will be on the wings, at the guards, at center, and in the backfield, and first glance at the prospects shows a decided lack of good reserve material.

Phelan isn't even thinking of winning football games this year. He wants to install his type of play in Husky ranks, and develop players on the varsity and freshmen squads to such an extent that he will have something to work with next year. Then, he will start aiming his guns at big things.

The Huskies face a heavy schedule this season, meeting for the first time in history, all three California members of the conference—California, Stanford and U. S. C. In addition, they will meet Oregon, Washington State College, College of Puget Sound, Idaho, Montana and Whitman college. Their first game will be played here with Whitman Sept. 27, two weeks after the practice season opens.

Followers of the Huskies will see a new type of attack launched this fall. Instead of the old power plays always associated with University of Washington teams, there will be tricky, open formations, the famous Notre Dame shift and speed. Jimmy Phelan relies upon speed more than anything else in turning out good football teams.

What he lacks in experienced material, Phelan hopes to make up to a large extent, in spirit. Unusual interest is being shown by players and fans.

Among the men he will have to form a nucleus around which to build a team is Merle Hufford, sophomore sensation in the backfield last year, who won all-Coast honors; Bill Marsh, 195-pound fullback, who may be shifted to quarterback; Roy Squires and Clerance Pautzke, ends, who won letters last year; Gob Wentworth, Capt. Al Holmes and Paul Schwegler, experienced tackles, and Lee Shelton and Bob Foster, guards.

Jack Patrick, last year's quarterback and Bill Mittlestedt, who played some at quarterback, are the only other two lettermen in the backfield. Sam Kraetz is the lone letter man available for the pivot position.

Of these men, only Hufford, Marsh, Holmes and Schwegler are outstanding.

Phelan will not only have to rebuild the squad into his type of play; he'll have to build almost an entirely new combination, and whip it into shape for nine games.

Six of the games will be played at Seattle, giving home fans plenty of opportunity to study the new team, directed by the man who took Enoch Bagshaw's place.

CHICAGO CUBS BROOKLYN BEATEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—UP—The very first pitch of the ball game at the Polo grounds here today went sizzling back against young Carl Hubbells' pitching hand, and whatever it did to that educated flipper, it spelled disaster for the Chicago Cubs. The young Giant southpaw struck out ten Bruins, allowed them but three hits, and shut them out 3 to 0.

The defeat robbed the Cubs of any chance to gain upon either of the league leaders, who were battling through a spectacular contest for first place over the river in Brooklyn, and exhibited Joe McCarthy's National league champions as a badly demoralized ball club.

Victory meant little to the Giants, who still trail Chicago by three full games, but it just about ended the Cubs' hopes of repeating their 1929 success.

Hubbell, after having his pitching hand nearly torn off by the opening drive from Blair's bat, settled down to as neat a job of pitching as he has turned in this year. Meanwhile, the wobbling Bruins began early to toss away the ball game.

With one out in the Giants' half of the first, Allen beat out a bunt down the third base line. Freddie Lindstrom smacked a single off Blair's glove, and Allen raced for third. Kiki Cuyler recovered the ball and threw to Bell to catch the Giants' center fielder, but the Cubs' third sacker let the ball get away and Allen picked himself up and scored.

Bull Frog Offers To Battle Dog

YORK, S. C.—Believe it or not, but bull frogs are belligerent. In the lake at the York water supply station are thousands of bull frogs.

Guy Parrott, express messenger, caught a big one and brought it to town on a string. On the main street, in front of a mercantile establishment, Parrott let the frog hop on the street.

Someone in the crowd had a terrier, and the frog showed plenty of fight after the dog growled at it.

The bull frog suddenly grew to several times its normal size, according to Parrott, and was perfectly willing to fight the dog whose owner decided the frog was too unusual an "animal" for his dog to fight.

NEW PLAYS TO BE USED BY HIGH 11

A magic bag of new plays has been displayed before the varsity grid team of Richmond Union high school this week by Frank Ribbel, local football coach.

These plays are believed to be entirely new in local high school football, and are reckoned upon to assist the local gridders in their attempt to gain greater pointage in the future than they have in the past three games.

The Richmond athletes will have their first chance to display their new knowledge next Friday, when they will travel to San Leandro to tangle with the San Leandro eleven there.

Ribbel is not yet certain as to the backfield he will use Friday, but he has announced that the line will probably be as follows: Drexel, Juillerat, ends; Westman, Ball, tackles; Baxter, Hoeffer, guards and Hall, center.

Arizona State Baseball Loop In Title Mixup

GLOBE, Ariz., Sept. 16.—UP—For the second consecutive season the Arizona state baseball league championship series has ended without any team having won sufficient games to establish a claim to the title.

Following a dispute over when the seventh contest of the series between Globe and Bisbee should be played, Al Floyd, president of the Globe nine disbanded his team and declared there was no possibility of the deciding game.

President Wilford Sullinger of the Class D league ordered the game be played at Bisbee or "not at all."

The Bisbee team will appear at its home park Wednesday for the final contest, and if Globe fails to appear, the title will be forfeited to the Bees.

Last year, the championship series ended in a riot.

Fay Thomas was on the mound for the Senators and allowed only six hits, while Craghead, Oakland pitcher, kept 13 hits well scattered.

Over 7,500 cigar factories are registered by the U. S. Government. Over 7,400 of these hand-roll cigars, producing 50 percent of the output. Every hand-rolled cigar—made by American Cigar Co. or anyone else—is subject to the possible danger of "spit-tipping." Certified Cremo is absolutely free from spit-tipping—No Cremo is made by hand.

Certified Cremo is a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! China Buys Ancient Plans

PEIPING,— The Metropolitan library in Peiping has purchased a large collection of models and plans of former imperial buildings and parks in this ancient capital from a family which has had the exclusive privilege of making such plans for 500 years.

The models include those of the old Summer Palace, destroyed by the Franco-British expedition in 1860, the Three Seas palaces in the heart of Peiping, and the imperial tombs.

Their authenticity is guaranteed by the Lei family from whom they were purchased. This family, experts in Chinese architecture, have controlled the actual designing and model-making of imperial palaces and tombs for five centuries.

The work was kept secret, and secrets were passed from father to son ,so that it never went outside the family even after dynasties fell.

The models, now on exhibition at the library, are comparable to architect's drawings, having been submitted to emperors for approval before construction began. They include plans of many buildings which have long ago perished, confirming descriptions of some buildings made by Jesuit priests.

T. L. Yuan, director of the library, has acquired many such important additions recently, including thousands of old Chinese books which are becoming more rare every year. The funds are supplied partly by the China Foundation, from money returned by the United States government from Boxer indemnity funds.

Public Land Now Set Aside

WASHINGTON.—As the result of an executive order signed by President Hoover, at the request of Ray Lyman Wilbur ,secretary of the interior, public lands in California have been temporarily reserved from entry pending determination as to the advisability of inluding them in a national movement.

The withdrawn lands are located within or contain points of unusual interest adjacent to the famous Death Valley.

This area was believed of greater public value as a scenic and scientific park than a place for economic development, and a study will be made of the land's possible eventual development as a national monument.

In the event that the territory is approved, recommendation probably will be made by the secretary of the interior that it be established as a monument to be developed by the National Park Service of the interior department.

Mystery Of Lost Mine Is 'Solved'

NEWHALL, Sept. 16.—UP—The half century old mystery of the lost Padre mine, reputed to hold vast stores of gold, may be solved tomorrow when Miss Anna L. Rose for 20 years a tireless prospector leads a sheriff's posse into the Techachapi mountains to investigate skeletons she found.

Today while digging at a spot 40 miles south of here Miss Rose dropped her shovel when she uncovered what she believes to be the bones of two persons. She did not stop to investigate but returned over a mountain to civilization.

It was said that if two more skeletons are found the mystery of the lost Padre may be solved as mining tradition in the remote section has it that "Irish" Charley Reilly an asserted cattle rustler and all around 'tough customer' killed an Indian and three Mexicans at the site of the lost mine.

In 1843 a wandering Franciscian friar, lost in the mountains, came upon a band of Indians working the rich gold mine. He helped them develop it but when the United States won California from Mexico the padre left the mine to the Indians. The Franciscian refused to tell the location of the mine.

MANSLAUGHTER CLOSES HERE TONIGHT

Whirling along at a breath-taking speed! Whizzing ahead at a thrill-a-minute! And bang! You come up short against a tremendous climax. That's the feeling you get watching 'Manslaughter" at the Fox-California theater, where it opened a two day run yesterday.

Speed is the sensation that stands out most vividly as "Manslaughter" opens. Claudette Colbert, its capricious heroine, runs wild in an orgy of fast-driving, fast-living, careless, carefree, utterly selfish and thoughtless. You see her flying over the highways in a monster motor; flashing over the waves in a tilting aquaplane; dancing, loving with reckless abandon. And then pulled up short by a tragedy caused by her own daring.

"Manslaughter" grips you! It's a story with an idea back of it, pictured vividly on the talking screen.

Claudette Colbert, beautiful, and young, talented and endowed with great wealth, and assured position, lives life riotously. Her very whim is a reality. She falls in love with Fredric March, but, when she cannot win this handsome young district attorney around her frivolous fingers, she casts him off. Then the tragedy and the district attorney is forced to prosecute this girl he loves for manslaughter. She goes to prison, vowing vengeance and there learns what life really means. She lives the drab routine of prison life, where social distinction is unknown. Released she seeks her revenge on the man she once loved ,and finds that her plans are only vengeance on herself.

Here is a strange mixture of love and hate in which love trumphs Played superbly by Caudette Colbert, the wistful beauty who captivated people everywhere with her convincing performance in "Young Man of Manhattan" and by Fredric March, one of the outstanding distributions of the stage to the art of the talking screen.

"Manslaughter" in talking pictures is a new revelation in emotion-stirring melodrama. It will be remembered. It gets under the skin.

Journey's End

COLIN CLIVE, Charles Gerrard, Ian MacLaren are starred in "Journey's End," the famous war play, which will open tomorrow at the Fox-California theater.

FAMOUS WAR PLAY AT FOX

No chances were taken by Tiffany Productions, Inc., with the technical detail and scenic investiture in filming "Journey's End" the R. C. Sherriff war play that critics have termed the most sensational stage success of today.

Colonel Gordon Magee, perhaps the foremost authority in Hollywood on British and other foreign military regulations and atmosphere, was the technical advisor, with the aid of practically the entire staff and cast of the production. Nearly every member of "Journey's End" has been the type of war service depicted and this is an assurance of absolute perfection in detail.

James Whale directed this all-talking picture, recorded by RCA Photophone, and showing tomorrow, Friday at the Fox-California theater. Whale is a war veteran and also directed the original London and New York stage productions of the play. Colin Clive, who created the original role of Stanhope in the first stage production, plays the same role in the screen version. He traveled from London to Hollywood to do it. His round trip involved twenty days of traveling for twenty-eight days of work before the camera. He had to be back in London on a definite date to resume the stage role.

George Pearson, supervisor of the entire filming, is one of the best known English directors and film producers. He has combined a lifetime of experience in both dramatic and film work in planning the talking picture of "Journey's End"

The story is the oddest in stage history. Without a woman in it, it has a compelling dramatic quality that makes it grip audiences. It has a love interest manifested only conversationally in dialogue between male characters regarding a girl who is never seen.

Besides Colin Clive, the cast includes Ian Maclaren, David Manners, Anthony Bushell, Billy Bevan Charles Gerrard Thomas Whiteley. Jack Pitcairn and Warner Klinger. A'so Mickey Mouse cartoon.

Man Dies On Table; Lives

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—UP—Alex Thompson, 62, "died" on an operating table in Georgia street receiving hospital here tonight but lived to tell the story.

Thompson, suffering a fractured knee and severe lacerations resulting from an automobile crash suddenly stopped breathing. Doctor Ivo J. Lozich listened and found the patient's heart had stopped.

Hastily the doctor gave Thompson the "supportive" treatment with a saline injection and artificial resperation. Fifteen minutes later he revived and was able to talk with his wife and astonished reporters.

Wife Of Film Player Files Balm Action

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—UP—Charges that Edwina Booth, motion picture beauty, took advantage of a movie location trip in South Africa to steal the love of Renault Duncan Renaldo, actor, were made here today in a suit for $50,000 damages.

The action was filed in superior court to Suzette Duncan Renaldo, wife of the actor.

Mrs. Renaldo declared that the romance between her husband and Miss Booth started about the time the pair left for Africa where Miss Booth was leading woman in the film "Trader Horn."

The suit further alleged that Miss Booth immediately made plans to sever her marital ties and those of Renaldo. Renaldo was persuaded to secure a divorce last January and she was forced to comply under threats he would cause her to be placed in an insane asylum ,with resultant loss of her four-year-old son, Mrs. Renaldo declared.

Miss Booth also took steps to end her own marriage to Anthony G. Schuck and paid the attorney who won Schuck an annulment on the grounds that he was under the age of 21 when he married the actress, according to Mrs. Renaldo.

The movie company, including Miss Booth and Renaldo, spent many months in Africa, returning to Hollywood last December.

Sills Funeral On Saturday

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16.—UP—Funeral services for Milton Sills, screen actor, probably will be held here next Saturday, it was announced by his family today.

Final arrangements will not be made until Friday when a brother, Charles Sills, Chicago banker, arrives from the East.

Charles Sills sent word to Doris Kenyon, widow of the actor, that he was leaving immediately. He said that Mrs. William Henry Sills his aged mother, was ill in Chicago, but that she took news of Sills death in a calm manner.

Miss Kenyon, formerly a leading screen actress, collapsed last night after Sills died suddenly of heart disease, after playing tennis with Dorothy, his 18-year old daughter by his first marriage.

Vets Soon To Get Talkies

WASHINGTON.—UP—War Veterans carried on the rolls of government hospitals soon will enjoy talkies instead of the silent moving pictures with which they have been entertained for years.

The first veterans' hospital talkie show was held at Mt. Alto Diagnostic Center, here. Gen. Frank T. Hines administrator of veterans' affairs, said he expected all hospitals having suitable recreation halls would be equipped by Christmas and eventually all other institutions would be supplied with the modern machines.

Man Is Found Slain At R. R.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 16.—Discovery of the body of an unidentified man, believed to have been murdered, washed, and dressed in clean clothing after being stabbed to death, is today being investigated by police.

Although the man had been stabbed through the heart, there was no stain of blood on his body or clothing, nor was any blood found upon the ground.

Physicians declare the wound was such that it would undoubtedly have bled freely, and authorities believe the man was murdered, and after being washed and re-clothed was placed where the body was found.

Police also said that all marks on the clothing that might lead to identification had been carefully removed. According to physicians, death occurred at least 24 hours before the body was found.

AUTO DEATHS LESS IN STATE

Not less than 22,000 lives have been saved, as a result of the enforcement of automobile drivers' license laws in California and eight other states of the Union having such statutes, according to the results of an exhaustive study by the National Safety Council set fourth in a report received by the California State Automobile association.

The survey covered an average period of eight years in each state. In addition to California, the inquiry included Massachusetts, Vermont, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, and Arizona. The statisticians engaged in the investigation found that these states had an average of 29 percent less automobile fatalities than they would have experienced had their percentage of increase been the same as states with no drivers' license laws.

This statistical investigation showing the probable saving of 22-000 lives, is accepted as convincing evidence to prove the practical effectiveness of well enforced state drivers' license laws.

The period which was covered in the study extends back to 1916, when the first of the state drivers' license laws was put into effect. The nine states have had their drivers' license laws in effect for different periods of time, an average of about eight years for all of them.

The statistical computation took into consideration all possible variations of conditions between the groups of states having such laws and those states which did not have such laws. Both groups, for example have a diversity of geographical, racial, economic, climatic and other conditions. Both groups have shown rapid increase in licensed automobiles per 100,-000 of population and increasing road congestion, including interstate travel.

The states not having drivers' license laws suffered a total of about 19,000 motor vehicle fatalities in 1929.

A few states now have so-called drivers' license laws not requiring examination of new drivers and in most cases not administered by a strong centralized state bureau. The figures for these states do not indicate that such laws have reduced accidents. These states were considered as non-license states in the study.

PRISON COSTS STUDIED BY GROUP

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—The state of California in the fiscal year 1929 expended $6,879,787 on its curative, penal, correctional benevolent institutions, not including capital outlyays. The total average number of inmates in these institutions in 1929 was 24,771. Of the total amount expended, $4,226-733 went to curative institutions, $1,439,135 to penal institutions, $784,841 to correctional institutions and $429,078 to benevolent institutions. The total expenditures for these state institutions represented six and one half percent of the state expenditures for 1929.

California Taxpayers' association has made a study of the per inmate operating costs of these state institutions showing costs from 1918 to 1929. This study reveals that there was a marked rise in the costs per inmate of all institutions from 1918 to 1921. From 1921 to 1924 there was a sharp decline in the per inmate costs. Most of this rise and fall in the cost per inmate from 1918 to 1924 was caused by a fluctuation in the purchasing power of the dollar. Since 1924, in general, the per inmate costs have shown only minor variations.

The institutions studied, together with the total per inmate cost of each for 1929, are: State Prison at San Quentin, $235.33; state prison at Folsom, $219.25; the six state hospitals for the insane ,average $250.95; Stockton state hospital, $234.52; Agnews state hospital, $271.80; Norwalk state hospital, $256.49; Mendocino state hospital, $288.46; Sonoma state home, $251.-97; Veterans' Home of California, $439.67; Pacific Colony, $533.89 (re-established in 1927); State Narcotic hospital $1,169.73 (first opened in 1928); Industrial Home for Adult Blind, $538.22; Preston school of industry, $669.77; Whittier state school, $821.68; and the Ventura school for girls $777.19.

The association studied the total operating costs per inmate on two bases. First, it distributed the total per inmate cost as to salaries and wages, materials and supplies, service and expense, and property and equipment. Second, it studied the total per inmate cost on a functional basis as to expenditures for support and subsistence, which includes feeding and clothing; as to care and welfare, maintenance and operation, farming, and general perposes.

The study also considers the per inmate costs of the institutions in terms of the purchasing power of the 1913 dollar, and finds that, in terms of the 1913 dollar, the general trend of costs has both slightly downward from 1918 to 1929, with a slight rise in 1922. In terms of both the actual dollars and the 1913 dollar there has been a tendency toward increased per inmate costs in the state institutions during 1928 and 1929. The general downword trend in per inmate costs in terms of the 1913 dollar value may be attributed largely to the great increases in the number of inmates, which have lessened the per inmate overhead and administrative costs. Folsom and Norwalk exhibit this tendency clearly.

RUM CASE TO BE RESTED TODAY

SEATTLE, Sept. 16.—UP—The defense in the Lyle-Whitney conspiracy trial speeded up presentation of testimony today with a parade of character and impeaching witnesses.

All of the defendants, Coy C. Lyle, suspended dry administrator, William Whitney, his former legal advisor and Earl Corwin and Richard Fryant, former agents, have testified in their own defense and their attorneys announced that they probably would rest their case early tomorrow.

A. C. Durham, Bellingham attorney, was the first character witness called. He accused Alfred Hubbard, former rum runner and undercover agent, of attempting to extort bribe money from him in 1928. Durham declared that he was then attorney for defendants in the Clode Regan case in Whatcom county and Hubbard, then working in the sheriff's office, told him he could keep the case from going to trial for the payment of $1,500 and later for $500. Durham said he turned down both offers.

Judge N. E. Harder, who heard several cases in Bellingham in which Hubbard testified, declared he would not believe Hubbard under oath without corroboration.

Howard D. Fryer, Spokane dry agent, testified that George Murray, former agent who testified for the government, said he "would get even with Lyle and Whitney for transferring him to Spokane."

Claude Bannick, sheriff of King county, testified that Lyle, Corwin and Fryant had good reputations as dry agents and that Whitney once asked his aid in capturing a liquor boat.

John Sandburg, former broadcaster at station KXRO in Aberdeen, testified that to his knowledge "nothing that looked like rum messages" was ever broadcast from the station. The government had accused Corwin of working with Hubbard to establish the station and direct the movement of rum fleets.

MYSTERY GRID TEAM FOR OREGON

CORVALLIS, Ore., Sept. 16.—UP—Every year Coach Paul John Schissler of Oregon State has a "mystery team" coming up, and probably nowhere on the coast does the spirit of hope rise so highly early each fall as on the Beaver campus here.

This year the mystery team is exceptionally mysterious, but a few things have leaked out.

One is that Coach Paul John is to have a behomoth line, a hard and fast line. Another thing whispered about is that he will adopt the U. S. C. system of concentrating his attack in one ball carrier.

For the ends, Schissler has a surplus of big fellows, but Art Gustafson, 170, and Bill McKalip, 175, will probably be the starters. Reg. Rust a transfer from Eastern Oregon Normal a big fellow scaling nearly 200, is one who will give them a tussle. Red McDonald and Keith Davis, from last year's freshmen, are two big kids who will also be pounding hard for first string berths.

The tackles appear to be Harry Kent, 205 and Pete Miller, 210 with Fred Schell, 220, Curly Miller 190 and Wayne Herne, 202 as runners-up.

Guards there are aplenty. Chief Coquille Thompson the big 205-pound Indian who was shifted to the line from the backfield late last year ,seems sure of one position. The chief, a little too heavy for a backfield man, would be a "honey" at guard, with his speed, tremendous strength and weight. Jack Cox and Ed Emglestad are two other lettermen who will be back. Then there is Gilbert Bergeson, who weighs in excess of 220. He tried out for tackle last year, but was a little slow at that position and was shifted to guard in spring practice. He is a mountain of strength.

Buck Hammer, 195, ex-backfield man, will undoubtedly get first call.

Behind that line Schissler has five quarters, six fulls and 13 halfbacks.

The key ball carriers will probably be Cecil Sherwood, 174 and Rowdy Kerr, 173. In the fullback position, Oregon State has reached out to Dillon, Mont., and usurped Frank Little a 180-pound Italian, whom Bill Brower, trainer of the Staters says will be the class of the conference this year. Little was the big shot of the freshman backfield, and in one game when he was thrown out for taking a sock at the referee the rooks melted quickly.

George Peterson, a transfer from Ellensberg Normal, ineligible last year, will probably alternate with Little.

Ralph Buerke, letterman, will undoubtedly be started as signal caller, but running him a hot race will be Art Ramponi, a fiery little 160-pound Italian from San Francisco. Ramponi played one year with the Olympic Club, and the loquacious Bill Brower says he will make a great quarter and is a fighter whom his opponents will long remember.

So that's Schissler's mystery team. Bill Brower, the optimist, says that this team might spring as big a surprise on the Trojans Oct. 4 as Oregon State did on N. Y. U. two years ago.

We shall see. We shall see.

OAKLAND, Sept. 16.—UP—Physicians determined today that three month old Joyce Oliver had died of suffocation, and not drowning as first believed.

Authorities were awaiting for the child's mother, Mrs. Roland Oliver, to recover from the shock before questioning her. They believed the mother found the baby dead, and ran to the bathroom to revive the infant in a bowl of water, and then fainted.

Law Breaks Chief's Heart

TOOELE, Utah.—Dave Eagle, veteran chief of an Indian tribe living in Skull Valley, withstood numerous hardships through life, but continued strong and healthy until he encountered one result of white man's law.

One of his sons eloped with an Indian girl from the Ibapah Indian school. Because of her tender age, a pale face court sent the youth to the Utah state penitentiary.

Tribesmen claimed this killed old Dave Eagle. The aged chief, who was born somewhere back in the late thirties, was grief-stricken. He lost interest in life, and spent most of his waking hours weeping. He refused medical aid or other attention, and died.

Dave Eagle was one of the most picturesque and best known characters in this vicinity. He was always a friend of the white man, even in the early days when pioneers struggled across the alkali deserts west of here, when most Indians in the mountain region were fierce and unfriendly to the oncoming white people.

Hoosiers Make Governorship

RICHMOND, Ind.—Wayne county Indiana claims the honor of having supplied five governors for other states besides Oliver P. Morton, the Hoosier Civil War governor.

John C. Burbank, Richmond, was appointed governor of the Dakotas in 1869 by President Grant and served six years.

General Thomas W. Bennett, Richmond, was appointed governor of Idaho by President Grant.

Joseph H. Kibbey, a native of Richmond, was appointed governor of the Arizona territory in 1905 by President Roosevelt.

The Rev. Henry A. Buchtel, a Methodist preacher here, was elected governor of Colorado in 1907.

Ford Adds Old Horse To Museum

MARYSVILLE, O. —UP— Henry Ford's penchant for things primordial and E. H. Creviston's "yen" for salesmanship combined to place another exhibit in the well-stocked Ford museum at Dearborn.

Aware that the old horse who used to gaze through the display windows of the harness shop is now as rare as the cigar store Indian, Creviston became convinced Ford should preserve this remnant of another era for posterity.

A canvass of Marysville's saddlery stores revealed one survivor who had gazed upon the town's passerbys for more than 40 years. Creviston promptly "unhitched" the animal and "stabled" it in his own back yard until he could secure a purchaser.

Museum officials were skeptical of Creviston's offer, suspecting the steed was a saw-horse, and demanded a picture. Supplied pictures erased all suspicions and the horse was ordered on its last journey.

Man Dies In Rescue Attempt

OXFORD. —UP—Frederick Geo. Bull, a laborer discovered a farmer wounded in a field guarded by two dogs, was bitten when he attempted to drive the dogs off, ran to a village for assistance and died in his son's arms from valvular disease of the heart, caused by the strain of the run.

Hair Tonic Snares Man

COLUMBUS, O.—Because a hat and Jack McDowell's head wafted the same pungent scent of hair tonic, Jack was arrested on a house-breaking charge.

Columbus detectives, summoned to the home of James Ellis, discovered a prowler had left his hat behind him in making a hasty departure.

McDowell was arrested several blocks away. Detectives sniffed the hat; then the suspect's head.

"Uh-huh! He's the man," they grunted as they bundled him into the patrol wagon.

THE WOMAN OF IT

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

American Women Never Shall Be Slaves.

DOES any American man with an intelligent modern mind seriously question the American woman's independence? We doubt it. Indeed, his best efforts, at present, seem to be concentrated on preserving his own independence, rather than in protesting against hers, which he has come to take for granted—as why should he not?

MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

His tolerant and sensible attitude makes even more amusing and amazing the candid confession, in the Outlook, of that clever young English writer, Alec Waugh, who allows that the independence of the American woman, particularly of the American wife, scares him to death.

In England, he declares, a man knows that a girl, more than anything else, wants to marry him and merely works because she hasn't yet had the luck to lead to the altar a noble British male.

In the United States, on the other hand—plaintively points out Mr. Waugh—a girl wants a job so that she can run her own life, with men and marriage merely an incident therein; she is independent of men and Englishmen don't like the idea at all!

"In an English office," he goes into detail, "the English girl is only rarely interested in her work. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred work for her is a marking time or an excuse for liberty of action that otherwise she could not obtain. She regards whatever job she holds as a method of making pass agreeably the years before her marriage. She has no intention of working after she has married.

"That is not, as far as I see it, the American girl's attitude. She sets out to arrange her life as a man sets out to arrange his life, so that she can stand four square upon her feet; so that she can take marriage in the same way that a man takes it, in her stride.

"The American woman has learned the art of combining in one career what was supposed fifty years ago to be the separate functions of a man and a woman. It is this that makes her independent. And independence in a woman is a thing that the Englishman finds hard to recognize."

NATURALLY. For, as Mr. Waugh goes on to point out, "the Englishman does not believe that his wife is responsible for herself, but that he is responsible for her. By law he is responsible for her debts and actions. The law is in England based on the assumption that woman is incapable of self-management and needs protection. And a man, though he may grumble, does not object. It gives him a pleasant feeling of importance and security.

"He knows that his wife could not manage without him. He believes that the only thing that will get her away from him is some other man. Nothing is more unlikely than that a woman should say one fine morning: 'I'm bored with this. We're going to separate.' In England she is bound by her economic dependence.

"An English wife does not leave her husband except with another man until life in her home has been made absolutely intolerable for her. There would be nowhere for her to go, nothing for her to do. The entire fabric of her life would collapse.

"In America, however, so it seems to me, a woman is as free to walk out of her marriage as in England a man is. She has her job. She works as often as not under her maiden name. The majority of people with whom she works do not, if they know she is married, think of her as married. If her marriage collapses, she can continue the main structure of her life in the same way that a man does when his marriage collapses. It is for this reason, I think, that the Englishman is afraid of marrying an American.

"I," finally confides our young Englishman, "should find myself as lost in that atmosphere of independence as an American woman would find herself, married into the dependence of English life. I should be nervous of marrying an American woman."

OBVIOUSLY, the American girl's instantaneous retort is that of the milkmaid in the song:

"'Nobody axed you to, sir,' she said, sir, she said, sir, she said."

But there is something else which an American woman feels moved to answer. It is true, increasingly true, that she is not only economically but psychologically independent, that she refuses to be otherwise, that she shudders at the English wife's state of dependence as outlined by Mr. Waugh. (Don't blame us for what he says—we merely assume that he speaks whereof he knows.) If Britons never shall be slaves, neither shall American women.

BUT, again—isn't the independent American woman paying the American man the greatest compliment in her power when she loves, marries, and stays married? Just because she doesn't need him as a buffer state between her and the world, because she can support herself, because she has many interests of her own—isn't she telling her lover-husband, in effect: "I adore you, I'd be wretched without you—it's YOU I want, not your money or your protection or anything but YOURSELF!"

A man and husband, we should think, would like that. An American man and husband, we believe, does. And, after all, American girls should have a heart. They shouldn't even try to recommend themselves as wives to Mr. Waugh and other Britishers—who have at home 2,000,000 more women than they can marry now!

GYPSY QUANDARY

Last night I went to have my fortune told,
I sat before a table draped in red,
And now I cannot sleep for thinking of
That fortune teller and the things she said.

She told me a dark lady stands and waits
To snatch my lover's heart away from me—
She said a golden ship sails from the west
Bearing my blond prince from the distant sea.

And now I do not know if I should weep,
For thinking of that woman and her plan—
Or if I should sleep on, and build new dreams
About the gallant ship and that blond man.

A DISH A DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

Afternoon tea begins to take on a more dignified air, now that families are returning to their town houses, and suburbanites have abandoned their garden and porch nooks for indoors. While family and friends dashed in from the swimming pool or golf links for a late-afternoon chat, refreshments were informal from choice, and hearty from necessity. Guests who have just survived eighte-n holes of golf, cannot be greeted with a dainty tray of diminu'ive sandwiches and cakes that are mere airy trifles. Not twice, at any rate.

KAREN HOLLIS

In town, however, away from athletic activities that develop hearty appetites, the tea tray takes on dainty airs. Wafer-thin sandwiches or canapes, supplant the heartier fare of days at the beach or in the mountains, and tiny, feathery cakes are appealing.

The hostess who has servants to attend to every detail can make an elaborate function of the tea hour and offer an array of tempting dainties, but the housewife who does her own work should restrict herself to simple refreshments. Sandwiches or toast with some dainty tea cakes are sufficient. The most satisfactory tea cakes are petits fours, for with very little effort they can be varied in shape and frosting so that they offer variety.

Here is my favorite recipe for these little cakes, with some suggestions for different icings.

PETITS FOURS

1¾ cups special cake flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
1 cup granulated sugar
½ cup egg whites
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon lemon extract
½ teaspoon almond extract

Sift the flour once before measuring, then sift with the baking powder and salt three times. If there is the slightest chance of the flour being damp, heat the oven, open the door and sift the flour in front of it.

Cream the butter, adding the sugar a little at a time. Add the [illegible] egg whites and beat until the mixture is light and fluffy. Add the milk and flour in small amounts alternately, then stir in the flavoring. Spread batter about one inch thick in layer cake pans lined with paraffin paper. Bake in a moderate oven about twenty-five minutes, or until edge of cake shrinks slightly from the pan and top is faintly browned. Turn out on paraffin paper, and when cool cut into fancy shapes with cooky cutters. Frost with the following icing:

BUTTER FROSTING

4 tablespoons butter
2 cups confectioners' sugar, sifted
1 teaspoon vanilla
to 2 teaspoonfuls warm cream

Cream the butter until very soft, then add sugar gradually until mixture is stiff. Add flavoring and a little cream, then more sugar. Add only enough cream to make mixture of right consistency to spread.

On some of the freshly iced cakes sprinkle chopped nuts; on some chopped candied cherries, candied grapefruit or orange peel. Add a few drops of oil of peppermint to a little of the icing, and decorate the cakes on which this is used with chocolate dots.

Decorative candies of various colors can be purchased to use in decorating some of these cakes. Red coloring and a little oil of cinnamon will give you still another variation of this icing.

For those who like a rich, bitter chocolate icing, one can be simply made by melting a square of bitter chocolate and adding a few grains of salt, a teaspoonful of milk and just enough confectioners' sugar to make it thick enough to spread.

Fall Dresses for the Present Mom

TWO PIECE DRESS OF JERSEY IN INTENSE GREEN AND BROWN WITH A MONOGRAM ON THE BLOUSE.

A SONG of praise for the new jersey dresses and suits escapes me automatically. Never have I seen such perfection of detail, nor so simplified smartness in things that are meant for everyday wear for everybody.

Since wool is the thing that you will be wanting, and since the lightest weight possible to be found is desirable, and since price is a glaring factor with most of us, well—what could be sweeter than a jersey suit of unquestionable style at medium cost?

You just don't feel exactly right on the street these late summer days with the clothes that have seen you through the torrid weather. You are not ready for really heavy winter clothes—couldn't wear them if you had them. A jersey fits in happily for the business woman, the one who has a lot of shopping to do, the one in the country, or the mere homebody who pines for something for a change and something to give her the pep that a new, up-to-date model always seems to have the power to do.

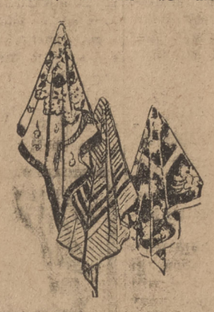
For Travel

IF YOU are doing some late summer or early fall travelling, you will find a jersey suit simply indispensable. It can be dragged through so much without showing lack of constant pressing.



Are you preparing to go away to a university?—same reasoning holds good. Then all through the winter—for rainy days, for wear under a fur coat in severely cold weather, for football games and for motoring this suit—or dress if you prefer—will be your firm and fastest friend. The styles are established now. I can recommend it as a good buy.

Two suits are pictured on this page—one with a long coat and one with a short—or really cardigan jacket.

The longer-coated one in green and black is done in the Vionnet manner—a coat that is loose with something of a wrappy look to it. This is black lined with green. The dress is green with ends of sleeves in black and a wide black suede belt that crushes about the waistline. This half and half sleeve is something that is very smart this season.

The other suit is made of brown with brick red trimmings. Its sash crosses and ties and is edged with bands of red. Also a scarf on the simple little jacket has the same sort of edging.

Dresses of Jersey

TWO-PIECE dresses of jersey are just as good as they can be. They have little over-blouse, jacket-looking tops, often of a contrasting color. One is shown here that was sent over from Paris just a day or two ago. It comes in velvet but works up charmingly in jersey.

A one-piece dress is made of bright red with bands of black and white outlining the square neck and used for trimming on the waist. Red is a good color for this sort of frock—nice under topcoats of neutral tone, and who hasn't one of these crying out loud for a suitable complement?

What Goes With

THE felt hat is the best thing to wear with a jersey outfit—a beret, if you wish. But the tricornes and bicornes are the smartest of all and particularly suitable in felt for this sort of an outfit. The jersey berets or turbans made of the same material as the suit are very chic.

Leather-heeled ties or kid pumps are the sort of shoes best fitted to wear with the jersey outfit. Ties with three or five eyelets are good.

For your pocketbook use leather—not antelope—that is too dressy and formal looking. And have you seen the new ones of green alligator highly polished? They are v[illegible] line and very sporty l[illegible] come in dark brown an[illegible]

Flower Beds Indoors

THERE is such a sudden interest in indoor gardening, as it is called, that every new idea counts, and here are several. One has to do with an indoor flower bed.

In some of the shops are great dishes of zinc, some made for all the world like enlarged editions of those cake pans with the hole in the center; others have a series of ridges and two or three, sometimes four even, compartments, all with their tiny holes to let the superfluous water reach the drip pan beneath. There are round and square dishes, oblong and star-shaped ones, or they may be made to order in any shape desired. As for size, some of these zinc dishes are two yards across, for you see they are especially designed for an indoor flower garden, and they are lovely when filled. TELLING THE WORLD

(J. Herman Seidlitz today interprets the intricacies of international polo for the fortunate readers of this paper. Mr. Seidlitz needs no introduction to the public as an expert and authority on polo. For twenty years, as an auctioneer at a fake jewelry sale, he had a mallet in his hand. He was born with silver stirrups on his feet. And since 1931, Mr. Seidlitz has been riding ponies on the Coney Island merry-go-round. He is as much at home on a polo field as he would be in Buckingham Palace. Our paid-up subscribers are indeed fortunate that such a genius explains the rules of polo today. One glance at his authoritative article and polo will be as simple to you as alphabet soup. J. Herman Seidlitz's article follows directly, unless the make-up man has made a serious mistake.)

INTERNATIONAL POLO EXPLAINED

By J. Herman Seidlitz

POLO is practically the same as playing croquet on horseback. Each side consists of a male quartet and the idea is to hammer a ball between the wickets and ring up a score. The main point is that you have to bang the ball while you are riding a horse. If you have ever been first marshal of a St. Patrick's Day parade, you can imagine how difficult this is.

It is very thrilling to watch an international polo match. It is almost as thrilling as watching a good Western picture. In fact, when the British team is about to score a goal you expect to see Gary Cooper and a detachment of United States cavalry ride up and overturn the whole proceedings in the nick of time.

But you must know the rules to enjoy the game. For instance, the polo field is 150 yards wide and 300 yards long. It could be cut up into vacant lots and make sixty-seven midget golf courses. This seems a lot of territory to waste on only eight players, but it is impossible to play miniature polo unless you ride on Shetland ponies and use a little liver pill for the ball.

The goal posts are eight yards apart. You might think any one could shoot the ball into that wide space, but you can get an idea how hard it is by trying to play a round of croquet on stilts.

When a goal is scored the referee waves a red flag. This red flag waving causes the exclusive Long Island set in the stands to start singing the Third Internationale, and it takes quite a while for the ushers to quiet them down so play can be resumed.

I am not a Communist myself, but it is rather stirring when the referee waves that red flag. I know that the first time he did it in the opening game I thought I was at a closing out jewelry auction and bid $2 on a gold-plated watch.

There is a three-minute rest between periods so the players can change ponies. A player will use up a polo pony in a seven and a half minute period. That makes his mount a second-hand, or used, pony when he turns it in for a new one. The player usually has to give up his used pony and $600 or $700 extra to get a new one for the next period. and polo ponies are not sold by dealers on the instalment plan, either.

That is what makes polo such an expensive game. It is no fun to have a brand new pony worth $3,000 and after riding it seven and a half minutes hear some dealer tell you it's a used pony now and worth about $175 trade-in value, with the saddle thrown in.

In fact, about the only thing you can say for polo is that it has kept the blacksmithing business from going to pot.

THIS AND THAT

That's right about "as Maine goes, so goes the nation." Maine goes to Montreal and Quebec for its booze.

The ex-Presidents of Peru and Argentina haven't joined the New York Life Insurance board of directors yet. In fact, they haven't even been asked to take out a policy.

A Sing Sing trusty escaped in an automobile. But if he thinks he'll enjoy his freedom, just wait till he tries finding a parking space.

The only danger of night baseball is that the Edison Light Company may be bribing the boys to stage extra inning games.

Prosperity note: There's a tremendous overturn in the stork market among royal couples these days.

A syndicate of engineers has laid a $1,000,000 tube under the Gulf Stream for a power plant. Well, they can always make it pay if they pipe Havana for Bacardi cocktails.

Babe Ruth has opened his Broadway hat store, and if he did it on the basis of home runs, Hack Wilson is entitled to open a wholesale house and sell sombreros, ulsters and overcoats.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

SCOUTS TO HOLD MEETING IN PARK

A conference of older Boy Scouts of Contra Costa county will be held in Alvarado Park Oct. 4 and 5, according to an announcement last night by Robert F. Cox, Richmond Scout executive.

The conference will be in the nature of a training school for senior patrol leaders, patrol leaders and scribes, who will be divided into three groups, special training to be given each group.

Eagle Scouts of the county will act in the capacity of trainers, with Cox and J. R. Warren supervising the conference.

On the night of Oct. 4, a campfire will be held and Lloyd Hall, Richmond Eagle Scout, will talk on the recent Ancel Hall expedition in which he participated.

Sunday morning church services will be held to be followed by group sessions. A closing ceremony will be held at 2 p. m.

Eagle Scouts who will serve on the faculty are Lloyd Hall, and James Vanoncini of Richmond; Hume Vaughan of San Rafael; Harry Majors of Concord, and Robert Ward of Pittsburg.

All these boys are members of the Knights of Dumas, an Eagle Scout association, and Hall and Ward are students at the University of California, the latter recently receiving his appointment to Annapolis.

The Knights of Dumas will hold a public installation of officers Oct. 3, Cox announced, the Richmond Eagle Scouts having charge of the program.

The Richmond public library has recently installed a Boy Scout library section, in which are books on history, biography, fiction, nature study and craft work.

A feature of the library is the book on the Boy Scout World Jamboree, written by 15 boys who attended.

Each month new books will be added, an issue of Byrd's expedition to the South Pole is expected in the next group.

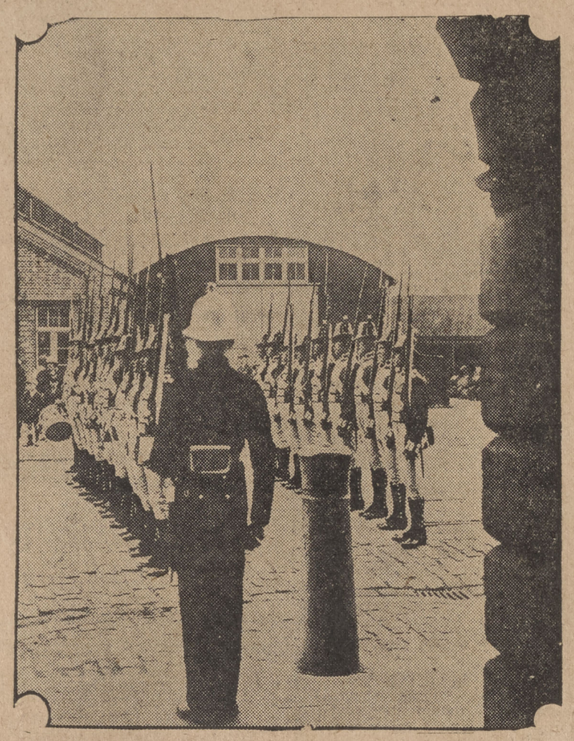
Days Of Old



THE PORTSMOUTH Navy Week, held in England, shows naval men, in the period costumes of 1805, acting as guards on the Victory, Nelson's flagship, while a modern marine guard stands on duty.

near downtown Baltimore, was halted.

The wounded guard is Arthur Owen, 39, who was shot in the lung in attempting to halt the first outbreak.

The wounded prisoner is George Bailey, who a year ago attempted to escape with Jack Hart, one of Maryland's most notorious gunmen and robbers.

Man Escapes

Bailey was marooned on the prison roof when an improvised rope broke, but Hart, hanging to the rope, dropped 20 feet to the ground and escaped. Hart is still at liberty.

Bailey is said to have been shot through the body in today's battle. He was taken to the prison hospital.

Headed off by guards, five of the prisoners made a dash for the prison foundry. Others submitted to capture after brief tussles.

The besieged prisoners, protected by the thick walls of the laundry, remained out of sight of the guards ,who surrounded the building.

POPULATION GROWTH SHOWN

California's growth in population during 1929 was 131,600, or an increase of approximately 2.4 percent, according to a report released today by the Research Department of the California State chamber of commerce. The rate of increase was 1.7 percent during 1928 and 5.0 percent during 1927.

At the indicated present rate of growth, about 12,000 persons per month are being added to the permanent population of the state.

This report, which presents complete detailed population returns from the 1930 census for all counties and incorporated cities in California, tells California's growth by years over the past decade, using as a basis annual records of school attendance. According to this analysis, the most rapid growth occurred during the years 1919 to 1923, inclusive, and in 1927 when the increases in population ranged from 237,300 to 417,400 persons annually and percentage increases from 5.0 to 10.2 percent. Two thirds of California's 2,212,000 population increase over the decade 1920 to 1930, occurred during the first five years.

Analysis of the preliminary census returns also shows that urban population increased 77.6 percent as compared to a gain of 40.4 percent in rural population. At the present time over 72 percent of California's 5,762,009 people live in incorporated cities of 2500 population or more. About 43 percent are in the five cities which are over 100,000 population.

Compilation of census returns by regions, shows that California's total increase of 65.5 percent over the past decade, can be compared to an increase of 116.5 percent in ten southern California counties; an increase of 37.1 percent in the central coast counties which include the San Francisco-Oakland metropolitan region; an increase of 28.7 percent in the 21 counties comprising the Sacramento valley, and adjacent mountain counties; an increase of 26.8 percent in the San Joaquin valley; an increase of 26.1 percent in the delta or central valley region around Stockton; and an increase of 20.7 percent in the north coast counties, or Redwood Empire region.

OAKLAND POLICE OFFICER FACES DISMISSAL

OAKLAND, Sept. 16.—Indications that Patrolman Meinert, who was found bound gagged and handcuffed on his beat early yesterday morning, would be dismissed from service, were seen here today.

Police Chief James T. Drew suspended Meinert from duty today, stating he would recommend dismissal of the officer to Commissioner Frank Colbourn today. Drew said the technical charge would be "conduct unbecoming an officer."

Drew's action followed the disappearance of Meinert from his office while awaiting examination of his burglary story. He left the chief's office ostensibly to see his wife, and failed to come back, the suspension order being issued immediately.

Meinert was found yesterday morning, bound, gagged and handcuffed lying in a dry creek bed at Seventy-sixth avenue and Weld street. He told authorities he had discovered a burglar attempting to enter a chain store and while questioning the man had been slugged over the head.

Fewer Deaths Are Reported In Car Crashes

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 16.—California has fewer motor vehicle deaths than the nation at large in comparison to the number of miles traveled by California vehicles.

This was revealed today in comparative statistics made public by the Division of Motor vehicles.

The death rate in California based on consumption of gasoline is 1.8 for every 1,000,000 gallons of gasoline consumed. The rate for the entire nation was found to be 2.8.

The rate in Connecticut, where numerous safety measures have been taken to prevent accidents, is 2.3. In New York state it is 2.1.

The statistics indicate one death occurs in California for every 6,631,000 miles traveled. This is based on an average consumption of 12 miles to a gallon for all vehicles.

"The California motorist's chance of being involved in a fatal accident is extremely low when the number of miles he travels is taken into consideration," said F. G. Snook, chief of the division. "The Californian travels nearly twice as many miles annually as the eastern motorist because the latter puts his car in the garage several months each year.

"Actually California is the safest state in the Union in which to drive a car because our roads and weather conditions are better. This is borne out by the death rate when computed in terms of gasoline consumption.

WATCH RICHMOND GROW-READ DETAILS IN RECORD-HERALD

RICHMOND IS AT THE THRESHOLD

Richmond stands at the threshold of a great destiny as a center of industry, shipping and business in general.

Those who have any doubt of this should review the developments of the past few months:

Richmond has seen the opening of the Filice and Perrelli cannery.

Richmond has celebrated the breaking of ground on the new Ford plant.

Richmond has become the home of the MacMillan Petroleum corporation for the distribution of its products to the western territory.

Richmond has seen steamers from the Lockenbach Lines tied up at the Parr-Richmond terminal on the inner harbor where a short time ago only mudflats met the eye.

Richmond has witnessed the beginning of work on the Ellis Canal project by the Santa Fe railroad and associated property owners.

All these developments mean that this city has enjoyed an unprecedented burst of prosperity in a year when general business depression exists in almost every other community.

Naturally, this is but the beginning. Large projects attract other large ones. A community spirit like that of Richmond, which is so much responsible for what has been done, is bound to function for still greater success in the future.

Support your Chamber of Commerce and have a personal part in the great developments to come!
